

Measuring Recovery Capital to Improve Recovery Housing

You are invited by the Washington Alliance for Quality Recovery Residences (WAQRR) to participate in a voluntary program to measure and monitor the impact of recovery at WAQRR certified recovery residences.

Your Experience to Set Standards

WAQRR exists to promote the establishment, successful management, and growth of high quality recovery residences in Washington. Doing that requires standards and measuring the effectiveness of recovery residences.

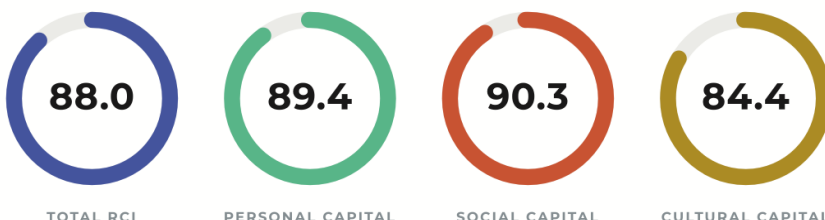

This voluntary program is your chance to comprehensively describe your recovery experience. You'll get immediate feedback about your recovery, but the collective insights from fellow recovery housing residents will inform WAQRR and WAQRR certified operators.

How does the study work?

You receive a series of messages with surveys. Take 5-10 mins to complete. The surveys will repeat throughout 2025. An anonymized analysis will be released in the fall.

What is Recovery Capital?

Recovery capital are all the assets available to you to start, sustain, and grow your life. The Recovery Capital Index (RCI) measures those assets on a scale of 1 to 100.

Scan the QR Code
or text sff-waqrr to 206-944-3537

What to Expect

- ➔ Scan the code and tap send
- ⬇ Complete the consent form
- ⬇ Complete the demographic form
- ⬇ Follow the text prompts to complete the Recovery Capital Index and 2 short surveys
- ⬇ Complete the RCI and surveys when sent again to assess and monitor your progress

You may receive occasional messages related to this study and your participation. If you have any questions, would like to report issues with the surveys, or would like to report a grievance, reply anytime. Your messages and results are monitored by Commonly Well and held private and secure. Only your survey results will be shared with residence owners.

Questions? help@commonlywell.com